Frank H. Truesdell, who was at on time well known in this city and who about sixteen years ago was city editor of the Palladium, was recently arrested in Emporia, Kan., for attempting to pass fraudulent paper. His operations have also been carried on in Syracuse, N. Y., where he attempted to pass worthless checks and was indicted in 1892, but escaped arrest. From Syracus he fied to the Pacific coast, and his turning up in Emporia is the first the life and usefulness of the deceased and beside a few long waits the per-The grand lodge officers and the dictators of the subordinate lodges, K. of the subordinate lodg for amounts varying from $300 to $650. He has been variously connected with various newspapers and press associations about the country and among his papers were found receipts for dues to the San Francisco Press club, and three or four clippings from the El-mira, N. Y., Telegram, all referring to his retirement from the manager ship of that paper and highly com-plimenting him. In one of these clippings it is stated that his reason for retiring was that he intended to enter interment was in St. Bernard's ceme metropolitan journalism and another said that he had consented to remain other arrangements could made by the paper. Truesdell married niece of James T. Hathaway, formerly foreman of the Palladium composing room and shortly after the marriage began to Ill-treat her, so that at the advice of her relatives she refused to ive with him. Her name was Eugenia Hathaway and she is now assistant ibrarian of the New Haven Public library. She has the sympathy of all who know her. Truesdell was a man of good ad-dress and well qualified to impose upon strangers. Many business men all over the country have been duped by him. After he left New Haven he became manager of the United Press in New York. One of his escapades was the stealing of a valuable article from the North American Review in 1888, and selling it for $500 to a Chicago paper. It is quite likely that he will ies and be made to pay the penalty

A dispatch from Washington yesterday says United States Senator Platt thinks there will be no extra sesion of congress, and that Senator Hawley said on the subject: "The probability is that there will be none. Nobody wants an extra session. We do not see what more Cleveland could do with a house that is even more opposed to him than the present." Congressman Sperry of Hartford said that if any of the large appropriation bills were left it would necessitate an extra session of congress probably. President Cleveland yesterday nominated Chester Johnson to be postmaster at Thompsonville, Conn.
